Empowering youth for environmental protection

Team Rotary News

Members of RC Bhopal Hills along with Rotaractors of Radharaman group of institutes.

Aimed at fostering youth engagement and environmental awareness, RC Bhopal Hills, RID 3040, led by president Kunal Singhal, organised a project in collaboration with Radharaman group of institutes. The project focused on equipping students with vital skills for the future.

Under the guidance of PDG Dhiran Datta, and event chair and director of Youth Services Anil Kumar Gupta, a series of motivational talks, interactive workshops, and engaging discussions were held. These sessions were designed to encourage college students to participate in community activities through Rotaract clubs.

A highlight of this initiative was the saplings plantation by Rotarians and Rotaractors of Radharaman group of institutes. "The lush college campus saw the addition of over 125 medicinal plants, marking a significant step towards promoting green practices and a sustainable environment," says club president Singhal. He says the project has "dual significance. It not only imparts essential skills but also instills a deeper understanding of the importance of our planet for generations to come."

Under the banner "Each One Plant One," a sapling plantation drive was organised for the Rotarians across RID 3040. Members of RC Bhopal Hills planted a sapling at their homes. The impact of this drive extended to social media platforms, as participants shared images of their newly-planted saplings. ■

A Rotary garden in Moradabad

On World Environment Day (Jun 5) the club launched a mega tree plantation programme on the MIT premises in Moradabad. The club's IPP Sharmitabh Sinha and then secretary Rajeev Saxena urged all members to plant saplings on the campus, and named the green hub 'Rotary Club Harit Upvan'.

State forest and environment minister Arun Kumar Saxena was the chief guest at the club's greening campaign. The club members, along with the MIT staff, vowed to nurture the saplings.

A seminar on environment care was organised after the tree plantation event. Various ways and best practices were discussed with the participation of experts in the field. ■

Greening Kushinagar

Team Rotary News

Rotary Club of Kushinagar, RID 3120, has set a target of planting 500 saplings across the town during this year. The project was inaugurated at a primary school where club president Wahid Ali and programme coordinator Ajay Singh, along with club members, planted 21 saplings of Ashoka and peepul trees. The saplings were protected with tree guards and the Rotarians sensitised the students to nurture the saplings until they grow.

The municipal council of Kushinagar and the forest department of Kasia are also partnering with the club in this endeavour. The municipal council chairman Rakesh Jaiswal presided over the inauguration of the greening project.

In another endeavour, the club began the new Rotary year by gifting bicycles to 51 girl students of Classes 6 to 12.

“The beneficiaries were identified after consulting with the school, and based on the distance they had to commute and the family’s financial background,” said the president. ■

Assam students experience Maharashtrian hospitality

Team Rotary News

The New Generations Service Exchange (NGSE) team of RID 3131 ventured into an inter-state exchange programme with RID 3240. The district hosted three participants — Lipokmongla Lemtur, Merina Chetri and T Waichang Longchar from Assam.

They successfully completed their internship in 'Child psychology, counselling and effective teaching strategies' at the DIC's English Medium School, Nigdi Pradhikaran, Pune, Maharashtra. The exchange students were sponsored by RC Dimapur and were hosted by RC Chinchwad-Pune. The participants were from Mount Mary College, Chumukedima, Nagaland.

The internship was a well-designed programme through which the participants not only got knowledge of their respective field of study but also had the opportunity to understand the Maharashtrian culture, lifestyle, customs, traditions, heritage and values.

The youngsters were welcomed by host parents Anna Prashant Joshi

Clockwise: Visit to Ishwarpuram, a home for students from the North East; RID 3131 Rotarians felicitate the participants; DG Manjoo Phadke (7th from L) and RID 3131 Rotarians with the NGSE team after the marathon.

and Harsha Joshi of RC Chinchwad Pune. They were briefed about their internship programme and daily schedule in an orientation meeting. The training in child psychology was accompanied by practical lessons in teaching in the classrooms. The formal training consisted of varied co-curricular activities, such as learning basic German language, reciting Hindi poems, lessons in dance and an art workshop.

Variety of experiences

After the internship hours, the participants had a variety of experiences through the activities organised by the host district NGSE team. They enjoyed the heritage walk through which they visited the historical sites of Chinchwad, a place of significance in Pune. They visited the renowned Savitribai Phule Pune University and were awed by the gorgeous architecture and the lush green ambience.

Their podcast on the local radio station — Infinity — showcased their NGSE internship experience. The industrial visits in the Pimpri Chinchwad MIDC area broadened their horizons. In their presentation at the weekly meeting of the host club, they talked about the cultural heritage of Nagaland. The exchange students met DG Manjoo Phadke and visited her home club, RC Pimpri Elite. They participated in the Apla Pune Marathon, hosted by RCs Pimpri Elite and Chinchwad-Pune, and were felicitated by DG Manjoo Phadke.

Other memorable events include visiting a home for the students from the Northeast at Ishwarapuram in Phulgaon, a movie watching experience, an art gallery and metro station. The three of them loved the Maharashtrian cuisines that they feasted at Rotarians' homes. Vaidehi Joshi, president of RAC Ramkrishna More College, along with Rotaractors Sameer Ganpule and Aryan Awate, took the youngsters to Shaniwarwada, Lal Mahal, Agakhan Palace and the UNESCO designated site, Pataleshwar Caves.

Their interaction with Girish Prabhune at the Samarasata Puranrutthan Gurukulam, Chinchwad, opened new vistas of knowledge for them. He elaborated on the skill-based education system implemented at the gurukulam, and appealed to preserve their tribal culture by transliterating the literature in the local tribal language into the Devanagari script.

Shilpagauri Ganpule, director, NGSE, RID 3131, coordinated the programme with DG Manjoo and DG Nilesh Agarwal, RID 3240, and was supported by the district Rotarians for its smooth execution. ■
